Actor assault case accused booked for ruckus in hotel

N.S. Sunil, alias Pulsar Suni, the key accused in the Kerala actor assault case, who is now on bail, has been booked by the police for allegedly causing a ruckus at a hotel over a perceived delay in serving food on Sunday. He allegedly smashed a glass tumbler, besides making death threats to the hotel employees. Later, he was released on station bail. He was earlier released on stringent bail conditions after being imprisoned for over seven years in the actor assault case.

HC quashes criminal case against Arnab Goswami

The High Court of Karnataka has said that a criminal case against journalist Arnab Goswami, the editor-in-chief of Republic Media Network, was a "classic illustration for dragging him only to settle other scores". The case against Mr. Goswami was for allegedly 'creating or promoting enmity, hatred or ill-will between classes by telecasting a report containing rumour'. Justice M. Nagaprasanna made the observations while quashing the FIR against Mr. Goswami of Republic Media Network, which runs Republic Kannada television channel, on March 27, 2024.

Round-the-clock efforts on to rescue 8 stuck in tunnel

Personnel from India's nine top agencies are collaborating in the operation to rescue people trapped in the SLBC tunnel; Minister says he is not sure when the operations will conclude t's a race against time as the country's top nine agencies, renowned for handling rescue operations during natural disasters, worked round the clock to save eight persons trapped inside the Srisailam Left Bank Canal (SLBC) tunnel in Telangana's Nagarkurnool district.

A part of the under-construction tunnel collapsed on Saturday morning.

"The crack teams comprising experienced personnel from the Army, Na-National Disaster VV. Response Force (NDRF), State Disaster Response Force (SDRF), National overcome the hurdles that arose with each passing hour.

"On Saturday, a small leak was noticed which the site engineers found not very unusual," the Minister said, quoting an official of a U.S. company involved in the project.

However, disaster stuck when there was a sudden gush of water and muck with such force that workers had to flee to save their lives. Eight persons who were close to the point could not rush out.

Mr. Reddy said they were not sure when the rescue operations would conclude. "The joint rescue teams are putting in their best to ensure a happy ending," he remarked.
